

looked brighter for a return of the Conservatives to power.

What makes a forecast of the result difficult is the fact that a great many Liberals have openly deserted their party on the reciprocity issue. They have done this not because they have been apprehensive of the immediate results of reciprocity with the United States should the agreement be ratified, but because they fear this would be a start toward a general letting down of the tariff bars in Canada, the manufacturing interests have come out almost as a unit against the agreement, and have been supported by banking and financial interests in considerable measure. Special appeals have been made by the employers to their employees to vote against reciprocity.

The Liberal press, however, claims there have been just as many desertions from the Conservative ranks.

Estimated Results.

A tabulation of the estimated results throughout the Dominion, as compiled by party leaders, follows:

Province.	Conservatives.	Liberals.
Quebec	15	50
Ontario	16	40
Prince Edward Is.	6	4
Nova Scotia	1	14
New Brunswick	2	11
Manitoba	5	5
Saskatchewan	2	8
Alberta	2	5
British Columbia	4	3
Yukon (deferred)	0	1
Totals	50	141

Liberal majority, 91.

Province.	Conservatives.	Liberals.
Quebec	25	49
Ontario	62	24
Prince Edward Is.	1	1
Nova Scotia	1	9
New Brunswick	6	7
Manitoba	5	2
Saskatchewan	1	9
Alberta	3	4
British Columbia	6	1
Yukon (deferred)	0	1
Totals	124	97

Conservative majority, 27.

The campaign just ended has been even more stirring than that of 1878, when the late John A. McDonald came into power, with the Conservative party on a high tariff policy. Never has party feeling run so high, never have the discussions been tinged with greater bitterness, never has so keen an interest been manifested by the people as a whole, and never has there been so much real uncertainty in regard to the outcome.

Although the platform campaign practically ended with last night's meetings, both Leaders, Mr. Borden and Mr. Borden made short addresses to-day. Both the Premier and Opposition Leader Borden are confident of the result in their favor. The weather, however, promises clear skies throughout Canada, and it is expected that almost all of the voters will go to the polls. The polls open at 9 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 in the afternoon. The result of the election should be known at 10 o'clock at night.

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau.
The Times-Dispatch.
1320 Hull Street.
Phone Madison 855.

South Richmonders who are compelled to go to work during the early morning hours are very anxious to have the car company run the Hull Street cars through to Highland Park. As many of the men are employed at the Chesapeake and Ohio shops and Locomotive Works a great hardship on them is put on them changing cars at the Hull Street station. They often miss connection and are later for work, besides suffering many discomforts waiting for the car. Several petitions have been circulated requesting many signatures, and results are hoped for.

Wedding Celebrated.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of W. T. Roams, 125 Porter Street, when his daughter, Louise, became the bride of Luther Wyatt Wells, of 329 Porter Street. The wedding, though celebrated very quietly, was of particular interest to South Richmond society, where the young couple are leaders in the younger set. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. H. C. Phifer, of Central Methodist Episcopal Church, and the music was rendered by Rita R. Tacon.

The parlors and halls were beautifully decorated in palms and ferns, and lit by pink candles set in silver candlesticks. An improvised altar of white, trimmed with palms, was fixed in the parlor, where the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, was met by the groom and the brother of the bride, John W. Roams, who acted as best man.

The bride wore a gown of white messaline, trimmed with pearls, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her veil was caught together with a spray of orange blossoms. Her traveling dress was a dark navy blue tailored suit, with a turban to match.

The bride was attended by her maid of honor, Ruth Roams, and two bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Fitzgerald, of this city, and Miss Agnes Washburn, of Washington, D. C. They each wore a costume of blue messaline, trimmed with pearls, and carried bouquets of Killarney roses and asters. The two little flower girls, Eliza Fitzgerald and Mary Williams, were attired in white frock and carried roses.

After a brief wedding tour of the North-ern cities including Niagara and New York, Mr. and Mrs. Wells will be at home to their friends at 125 Porter Street.

Bonifant Wins Honorary Citizenship.
B. M. Bonifant, of Powhatan county, who was defeated in the recent primary by W. F. Key for the House of Delegates, has demanded a recount of the votes cast in Chesterfield county. The recount was called for September 27 at Chesterfield Courthouse, and all members of the two county committees are expected to be present.

Two Cases Dismissed.
Only two criminal cases were called before Justice Maurice in Police Court, Part 2, yesterday morning. The first, a nonsupport case against Dick Davis, was dismissed, as was the case of Stuart Scott, a Hull Street newsdealer, who was charged in three warrants with striking newsmen who had annoyed his wife. Mr. Scott said his prosecution was great, and that he was justified in using force to clear his store. Justice Maurice severely lectured about a dozen boys who were witnesses, and warned them to be on their good behavior in future.

Although the criminal docket was small, the civil docket, containing twenty-one cases, kept the court busy for several hours.

Milk Stolen.
Residents of the vicinity of Fourteenth and Porter Streets have complained of milk being stolen several times in the last few weeks, and the police are doing their best to break it up.

Quietly Married.
Last night a quiet wedding was celebrated in the Pulton M. E. Church, when Miss Agnes Bland, of 57 Hull Street, became the bride of L. C. Jordan, of 113 East Fourth Street. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will make their home at 500 Hull Street.

Singing at Revival.
The Clifton Street revival is nearing a close. The audience last night greatly enjoyed "The Haven of Rest," rendered by W. J. Morrisette, a well known singer. To-night quarts will sing.

New Theatre Going Up.
A number of new buildings are being erected on Hull Street, among them, a moving picture theatre. It is understood the theatre will put on a vaudeville show as well as moving pictures.

Personal and General.
Henry Holt, of 54 East Thirteenth Street, and Kenneth Boyle, of 207 Decatur Street, are spending a few days in Washington, D. C.

L. M. Franch, of 1112 Decatur Street, is paying a two weeks' visit to friends at Geo. Va.

Miss Lucile Nichols, of 1403 Porter Street, is visiting Miss Patti Taylor, of Clarkeville, Va., for a few days.

Maria Benie has returned from Washington, where she attended the marriage of Miss Allen Walker to L. W. Page, Tuesday.

Miss Margaret Braswell, of Whitakers, N. C. will spend several weeks with Mrs. L. W. Cheatham in Oak Grove.

Many Southside young men are leaving for school, among whom are Roy Atwell and Ray Paul, who will again enter the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg; George Paul, who goes to Washington and Lee University, Lexington, and Lyon Bradley, who will again attend the Carnegie Tech. in Pittsburgh.

Henderson Lodge, No. 105, I. O. O. F., was host last night at a banquet given in honor of a visiting encampment of Odd Fellows, at Toney's Hall, Eleventh and Hull Streets.

B. A. Nunnally has moved into his newly-completed home in Woodland Heights. Mr. Nunnally has lived at 105 East Tenth Street for thirty-seven years.

Welcome News for the Traveling Man

Trunk troubles are a thing of the past

See that Berry Wardrobe Trunk? If LENGTH OF SERVICE stands for anything, you will not have to buy more than one—it's calculated to last a life-time. It's wear-and-tear-proof, every inch of the way.

Then, it's convenient and practical in the fullest sense of the word, as any garments, few or many, when hung in the roomy clothes compartment are held firmly in place without crushing. When removed they are in perfect condition to wear. A sliding rod, when pulled out, brings the clothes to a convenient position for hanging or removing each garment without disturbing the others.

Compartment for your hat, collars and cuffs, soiled linen—it's all there. On the road it is a Trunk; at home it is a Wardrobe, and it's ALWAYS BOTH ANYWHERE. The Berry Wardrobe Trunk wasn't MADE, it was BUILT.

It's THE TRUNK THAT MADE TRAVELING DIFFERENT.

Different sizes. Different prices!

O. H. Berry & Co.

Dealers in Modern Things for Travelers.

WILL HAVE FREEDOM HE DOES NOT CARE FOR

Chanler Finally to Be Rid of Cavalieri, Although His Heart Still is With Her—Must Obey His Lawyers.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., September 20.—Complete confirmation was given to-day to the account of Sidney Harris's trip to Paris to settle the Chanler-Cavalieri affair. The account was accurate, even to the date that he was offered to the diva to release her claim on Sheriff Bob's estate.

Chanler's attorneys are firmly of the belief that when Harris returns within the month he will have her signature to a settlement for $70,000, and an abrogation of the marriage contract.

Edward E. Perkins, counsel for Chanler's estate, had that understanding with Harris when he saw him off for Paris, and has heard sufficient word from the negotiations to assure him that Harris will not come back empty-handed, and that the erratic artist will be free again, despite his will and through his friends.

The statement that $70,000 would be the upset price is absolutely true; also as a bonus for a quick waiver $10,000 more from Chanler's income may be given. But if that is paid it will mean an early day for the divorce and such an absolute abrogation of the agreement that she can never bother Chanler again.

Possibly the hitch that occurred for a time in the first negotiations was due to some English lawyers who knew a great deal more about the law of the United States than they do about the language of La Belle France.

They garbled the ante-nuptial agreement grievously in translating it from the Gallic. Negotiators never have been able to get together on the immortal document since.

However, a Mr. Brooks, who went to one of the best known colleges, is to make the authoritative translation of the agreement. Then he will translate a waiver for Mme. Cavalieri that he has already prepared and that she has already promised to sign. And if she keeps her word, despite her denial, Robert Cavalieri, after seven years, will have $20,000 a year.

If Cavalieri doesn't sign and tries to collect through the courts, no end of litigation will ensue. Mr. Perkins said that Lina would be many years older before she could win a single sou.

Meanwhile Chanler is willing his hours away at art at his sister Margaret's home, Roqueby. Mr. Perkins says he's going to flash on the sky of art as the greatest sculptor ever. Once in a long while he goes down to the exclusive Brook Club, at 7 East Fortieth Street, New York, for some more over Lina, and then goes over to the Union Club and considers his sorrow there. If he had his way he probably wouldn't allow a settlement to be effected, but just now he is handfast. To get as much as a living out of his own name he must obey his lawyers. And he has come to do it, though his heart is really still across the sea.

UNIVERSITY BREAKS ALL PAST RECORDS

Attendance Probably Will Exceed 870 Students. From Other States and Foreign Countries 350 Men Are Registered.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Charlottesville, Va., September 20.—The registration of students at the University of Virginia is in advance of any registration record in the history of the institution.

It is considerably ahead of the banner year, the session of 1909-10, when there was a rush of men in the law school before the inauguration of the three-year course in law.

The total registration in all departments up to to-night is 762, of which 357 are in the college, 194 in law, seventy-five in medicine, ninety-five in engineering and forty-two in the graduate school. The number of students from many years, about 100 men will matriculate between now and the close of the session, so that the total registration for the whole year may be confidently predicted as reaching 872, the gross enrolment in all departments.

The first year men in the law school are about 100 men, and the first year men in the college are about 100 men. The first year men in the college are about 100 men, and the first year men in the law school are about 100 men. The first year men in the college are about 100 men, and the first year men in the law school are about 100 men.

They are men of interesting things about the attendance. In the first place, the requirement of four years of high school training for men under twenty years has been rigidly enforced. An unusually large proportion of matriculates are not only graduates of high schools, but of other colleges. The two most pleasing features aside from the fact that the men are college and not high school students are, first, a gratifying increase in the attendance from the State of Virginia. The college department itself has already enrolled two more men than the entire catalogue enrolment of last session, and second, an unusual attendance from Northern and Western States.

The truly national character of the University of Virginia is very strikingly displayed in the fact that there are about 350 men from other States in the Union and foreign countries. From States like New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey, in the North, and States like California and Colorado in the West, and Florida, in the far South, there have been unusual accretions. There are three students from China. One of them is a government student, sent here by the Chinese government from the proceeds of the Boxer indemnity. The others are private students, from St. John's College, Shanghai.

The largest percentage of increase is in the departments of law and engineering.

The first year men in medicine will total about thirty-seven, which is the limit of possibility in that class, and hereafter that department with full first year courses, will increase steadily to the limit of capacity.

The circumstances. The office granted my request and sent on a young woman to fill in during my absence.

The afternoon papers say my father intends to send me on a long fishing trip or some sort of a cruise. I am old enough to know that I won't go. Furthermore, I couldn't stay away from business for that length of time.

"I have sense. I realize how the world looks on a woman who leaves her husband because of a crime, but I am in accord with the popular judgment on this line—when it judges broadly—and I am not pleading when I ask the public to take my case and examine it closely. Will they put in my position other girls of seventeen at the time of their marriage, and say that I have done wrong?"

"I have a life to live. Each day it grows shorter. Must I pass through the other days in misery because I made an unwise choice when I was a child? The law is lenient to a minor who commits a crime, but not to a girl who makes a false step in matrimony."

May Contest Divorce.
"It is said that Mr. Suydam will sue me. A jury then will assume that my going away with Mr. Noble constitutes the ground on which divorce decrees are granted. I must fight the suit. I am not positive now. I shall probably have to go through mud to gain the happiness I desire, but it will be worth it to me. I have done nothing wrong, not even in the eyes of the law, but if a court says I have I am ready to stand the charge. Married men go wrong, and their reputations do not suffer. They are still welcome everywhere."

Young Noble was present when Mrs. Suydam uttered her ideas. She kept her eyes on him almost continually, and there was great affection in her gaze. Billy, as she calls Noble, looked at her as earnestly. He is a fine-looking, clear-eyed youth, and his experience with the millionaire's wife seems to have given him stability. He wants to marry her.

"There is only one regrettable feature of this," he said, "and that is the odium it has cast on Mrs. Suydam. I would have made any sacrifice to spare her name. But the law of this State gives freedom to a married person on only one ground. We have not transgressed the law literally; by presumption we have, and while it would be an outrage to hold that Mrs. Suydam is guilty, a divorce would be a welcome opportunity for us to get married."

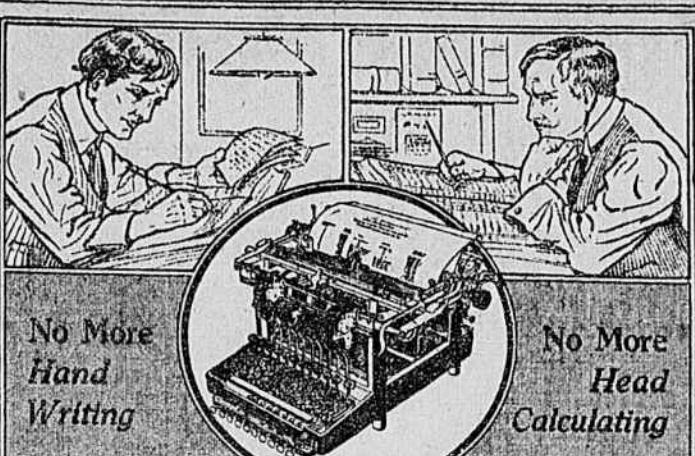

Decline to Commit Themselves.
"It is reported that Joseph P. Losee, attorney for Mr. Suydam, will ask you both to sign an agreement to be married at the conclusion of a divorce suit before he will be willing to bring such a proceeding," said the reporter.

"Are you willing?"

"We shall not answer that now," they both responded. "We do not believe there can be any truth in it."

"Have you sought another position?" Noble was asked.

"I don't need one," was the answer. "I am still employed by the Howard Dusters Duster Company. When this newspaper notoriety showered about me I asked the Boston office to give me a short vacation. I found it impossible to transact any business with newspaper men swarming into the office. Customers would not call upon

No More Hand Writing

No More Head Calculating

Both are eliminated by the Remington Adding and Subtracting Typewriter (Wahl Adding Mechanism)

The machine which reduces every operation of writing and calculating to a mechanical labor saving basis.

VISIBLE WRITING VISIBLE ADDING

Remington Typewriter Company

606 EAST MAIN STREET, Phone Madison 851

President Taft leading the standpat faction, while Senator Robert Marion La Follette—'Fighting Bob'—his followers love to call him—heads the insurgents. With them it is with the knife and the knife to the hilt.

No Standing Still.
"They are so thoroughly destroying each other that sometimes it seems that all we have to do is to stand still and the salvation of the world will be accomplished. But the Democrats are not in favor of standing still or of depending on Republican factionalism to give us the victory next year. On the contrary, we should continue as we have begun, press forward, advance our banners, keep everlastingly pounding them, pass more good bills until we have carried out our entire program and force the President to sign or veto meritorious Democratic measures, which are designed to promote the prosperity, happiness and safety of the American people. That is a policy which will win and which deserves to win."

"The greatest statesman that ever lived, bar none, Thomas Jefferson, said: 'Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.' It is also the price of success in the political campaign. We must cheerfully and earnestly to Democrats all over the land."

Mr. Clark reviewed conditions in both parties, referred to the Democratic victory of 1910 and the various congressional fights, and said that "had the Republic commenced its Congress honestly redeemed the promises made in the campaign of 1908 to revise the tariff downward they would have made their party invincible, and would have secured another long lease of power. The masses of the people with regard to party affiliation are honest, and they demand honesty and candor in public men."

Two Thousand Killed.
Cheng Tu, September 15 (delayed in transmission).—It is estimated that a total of 2,000 insurgents besieging Cheng Tu have been killed. The foreign residents have not yet been able to leave the capital.

OBITUARY
Funeral of Judge Wellford.
The funeral services of Judge Beverly Randolph Wellford, a man of many years, a judge of the Circuit Court of the city of Richmond and the county of Henrico, who died Tuesday in Newport News, will be held to-day at noon. The body will arrive at 11:30 over the Chesapeake and Ohio, and will be taken to the first Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was an officer for fifty-three years. The interment will be in Hollywood.

The pall-bearers will be: Active—Jeffrey Montague, Preston Noland, William A. Moncreuf, J. McD. Wellford, Landon C. Wellford, S. W. Fleischmann, W. Chase Morton and Coward Sands. Honorary—Judge James Keith, president of the Supreme Court of Appeals; Judge E. Carter Scott, of the Circuit Court; Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of the United States District Court; Judge Daniel Grinnan, of the Chancery Court; Judge Beverly Crump, of the Circuit Court; Judge George R. Cannon, E. T. Crump, Henry Taylor, Jr., A. R. Courtney and Dr. J. W. Egbert.

Metropolitan Lodge, No. 11, Free and Accepted Masons, has been requested to meet in the Masonic Temple at 10:30 this morning to attend the services. Judge Wellford was elected worshipful master of this lodge in 1877.

William G. Watson.
Salisbury, N. C., September 20.—William G. Watson, aged sixty-five years, of the clerical force in the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, died at his home in Salisbury to-day, following a stroke of paralysis sustained several weeks ago. For twelve years he was clerk of Rowan Superior Court, was prominent in church work, and a Confederate soldier, and one of the best known men in Rowan county. He is survived by two daughters—Mrs. J. E. Smoot, of Concord, and Miss Eleanor Watson, of Salisbury.

Mrs. Nora S. Bergin.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Staunton, Va., September 20.—Mrs. Nora Sheehan Bergin, wife of Frank J. Bergin, wife of a well-known business man of this city, died suddenly last night. She was forty-two years old. She is survived, besides her husband, by twelve children. Her mother, Mrs. Anne Sheehan, died here only a week ago.

Mrs. Hannah S. Banks.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bedford City, Va., September 20.—Mrs. Hannah S. Banks, daughter of T. Spruell, died last night at 12 o'clock at the residence of her father, on Longwood Avenue. Mrs. Banks was thirty-five years of age and came to Bedford only a week or two ago, hoping the change would restore her failing health, but pneumonia developed shortly after her arrival, and resulted in her death. She leaves seven children. The remains were taken to Roanoke this morning for interment.

Mrs. Mary A. Collier.
Danville, Va., September 20.—Mrs. Mary A. Collier, one of Danville's oldest residents, died here to-day in her eighty-seventh year. The funeral was conducted from the residence this afternoon. She is survived by R. M. Collier, of Reidsville, N. C.; D. C. J. M. and W. C. Collier, and Miss Fannie Collier, of this city.

Emmet Funsten.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Leesburg, Va., September 20.—Emmet Funsten died on Sunday at his home, in St. Louis, Mo. He is survived by his wife, two small children, three brothers and one sister. His wife was Miss Nancy Vandevanter, daughter of T. H. Vandevanter, of Leesburg, and prominently known throughout the county.

DEATHS
STEWART.—Died, at his residence at 11:05 A. M., after a long illness, C. N. STEWART.
Funeral notice later.

KIRTLLEY.—Died, at his residence, 504 D Street, Southeast Washington, D. C., MR. SAM KIRTLLEY. Remains will be brought to Richmond on the noon train September 21.
Funeral notice later.

HOPKINS.—Died, at his residence, 1414 Ross Street, Tuesday, September 19, 1911, at 10 P. M., THOMAS H. HOPKINS.
Funeral from Second Baptist Church, Byrd Street, near First, THURSDAY at 3 P. M. Friends invited.

YOU CAN FEEL SAFE FROM BOTH SPARKS AND RAIN
If you cover your buildings with

G. M. Co.'s "Pearl" Roofing Tin

Every piece bears our trade-mark.

Gordon Metal Co. Fourteenth and Dock Streets, Richmond, Va.

We Use Only the Best Flours In Our Bread

Our ovens are equipped with all modern appliances. The mixing and baking is done by scientific formula, and the bakers are all experts. The natural result is the best bread in Richmond. That's the public's verdict—not ours only.

Bromm
516 East Marshall Street, 501 West Broad Street.

Advertising Results
can be produced when the money is judiciously expended. We have planned and executed many large and small advertising campaigns. We know how to get profitable results. Consult us and be convinced. FREEMAN ADVERTISING AGENCY, INC., Mutual Building, Richmond, Virginia. Phone Madison 2112.

Your Taste Will Tell You that no other beer has the delicious appetizing flavor of

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

Pabst exclusive 8-day malt and the Pabst exclusive process of brewing make it a clean, rich, wholesome beverage that creates a hearty appetite and aids digestion.

Order a case today.

Pabst Brewing Co., 325-314 Market St., Tel. Madison 365